DISCOVER FARROW & BALL

Step into a world of richly pigmented paint, distinctive finishes and handcrafted wallpaper…

It began after the Second World War, back in 1946, with local pioneers John Farrow and Richard Ball. Farrow was a trained chemist who worked for Ireland’s Agnew Paints, while Ball was an engineer who survived capture as a prisoner of war. They met in Dorset, England and together shared a passion for making pigment rich paint to original formulations.

Our founders were groundbreaking in their pursuit of only the finest quality ingredients. From then on, our laboratory forged cutting-edge methods for testing the exceptional colour and performance of both our paint and wallpaper. And in 2010, we made the bold decision to move our entire range to an eco-friendly water base.

Today, this pioneering spirit inspires all we do.

High levels of titanium dioxide give our paint exceptional durability and coverage in just two coats. This bright white pigment refracts light beautifully back into your room, giving the depth of colour that Farrow & Ball is known for.

As one of the first to offer a 100% water based range, our paints are low odor, eco-friendly and safe to use in every room of your home. A water base ensures our paint is easy to apply and dries in just two hours — simply wash brushes with warm soapy water after use.
